FORTIETH CONGRESS.

House Proceedings—Judge Woodward Presents a Resolution for Investigation Concerning the Impeachment Pressure—It is Ruled Out—California Land Claims—Garfield on the Finances, &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 15, 1868.

Mr. WOODWARD offered a preamble relative to the letter addressed to Senator Henderson by the Missouri members, stating that such communications addressed to a Senator, sitting in judgment on the President of the United States, is a gross breach of privilege on the Senate, and calculated to degrade the House and obstruct the course of public justice, and concluding with a resolution that a Select Committee of Seven be appointed to inquire if said communication was read by Senator Henderson, and what is the legal character of the offence and what penalty, if any, the House ought in vindication of its own dignity to inflict, as well as to what provisions of law are necessary to prevent a recurrence of the same wrongs, with power to send for persons and papers and report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. GARFIELD objected to its reception.

The SPEAKER—The Chair is about to decide the question as to whether the resolution is or is not a question of privilege. In the opinion of the Chair it is not a question of privilege. The wording of the resolution expressly shows that it is not. The charge is that the matter alleged is an infringement of the privilege of the Senate. It has not yet occurred in the recollection of the Chair that the House of Representatives has been recognized by the Senate as having charge of the protection of its privileges. If the privileges of a Senator be assailed, that body is competent to protect its own privilege. Nor would the House consent that the Senate of the United States should assume to protect the privileges of the House. The Chair, therefore, does not think the resolution in its language presents a question of privilege.

Mr. ELDRIDGE.—Is there not another allegation in the resolution which does present a question of privilege?

The SPEAKER—If the gentleman from Wisconsin appeals from the decision of the Chair, the Chair will put the question to the House.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—I do not appeal, but wish to call the attention of the Speaker to the fact that there is another clause in the resolution which does present a question of privilege, and that the resolution can be so modified by striking out that part of it referriug to the privileges of the Senate.

The SPEAKER—The Chair rules that this is not a question of privilege.

Mr. GARFIELD—I demand the regular order of business. That is the only way to stop it.

Mr. WOODWARD—I consent to the modification of the resolution by striking out that part in reference to the privilege of the Senate. It is not at all essential. If that be the only reason why the resolution is not a question of privilege, I will strike out that part of it.

Mr. GARFIELD—I demand the regular order of business.

Mr. LOAN—I desire to say that all the communications had by the members of the House from the State of Missouri, with the Senator of that State, were had at his special instance and request, and the paper was signed at his instance.

Mr. ELDRIDGE—So much the worse: ten times worse.

The SPEAKER—The question is not debatable. The gentleman from Pennsylvania has modified his resolution by striking out that part referring to the infringment of the privileges of the Senate. The Chair is of opinion still that it is not a question of privilege. The nearest point to it that he can see is on page fifty-five of the digest, that of alleged corrupt and combination It does not appear from the resolution that any corrupt combination is charged upon the members of the House as to intercourse between them and their colleagues in the Senate. The Chair couldn't assume that in order to make a question of privilege.

Mr. WOODWARD—Then I ask unanimous consent of the House to offer the resolution.

Mr. UPSON and others objected.

The House then proceeded with the regular order of business.

After some minutes the proceedings were interrupted by Mr. WOODWARD, who was understood to ask what the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Pike) meant by making gesticulations and grimaces in an offensive manner—in a manner more worthy of the ring than of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER intimated to Mr. Woodward that his remark was not parliamentary. If the gentleman had a charge to make against a member of the House, he would have to make it in the usual form. The Chair did not see what the gentleman complains of.

Mr. PIKE, who had walked to another part of the hall, said: I intended no insult or grimaces, or anything of the kind to the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. WOODWARD—The gentleman stood here making cabalistic signs. [Laughter.] As he belongs to a party that claims to have all the moral sense of decency in the country, I inquire what he means by standing on the floor, in the presence of the Speaker, and making those grimaces at me.

The SPEAKER—If the gentleman presents a question of privilege the Chair will rule on it.

Mr. O'NEILL—Do such remarks go into the Globe as part of the transactions of this House.

The SPEAKER—They do. The gentleman from Pennsylvania rose, claiming to have been improperly treated by the gentleman from Missouri, and the gentleman from Pennsylvania used language the Chair thought was out of order as applied to a fellow-member. If he has cause of complaint he should submit the matter for the action of the House.

No further notice was taken of the incident, and the House resumed the consideration of the bill for the relief of Wm. McGarrahan reported last Saturday from the Judiciary Committee, which confirms his title to 19,000 acres of land in California, embracing the New Idea quicksilver mine.

The bill was explained and advocated by Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, who said in Committee there was but one dissenting voice, that of Mr. Boutwell.

Mr. BOUTWELL stated the grounds on which he had opposed the bill in Committee, and on which he thought it should be defeated in the House.

Mr. WASHBURNE, Illinois, enquired whether the title of the property was not in the United States to-day.

Mr. WILSON replied it was.

Mr. WASHBURNE then wanted to know what justice there was in giving this property, worth two or three millions of dollars, to McGarrahan, or any other man, and why the law allowing mineral lands to be occupied and taken out of the possession of the Government, should not be repealed.

Mr. WILSON said he could answer those questions in his argument.

Mr. VAN WICK opposed the bill, saying that the claim had originated in fraud and forgery, and had been propped up by perjury.

Mr. JOHNSON expressed his belief that Mr. McGarrahan's claim was just.

Mr. WILSON recited facts in controversy, sustaining the claims of McGarrahan, and arguing against the claim of the New Idea Mining Company, stating that if the bill was not passed the quicksilver monopoly in California would control the product and price of quicksilver.

After further debate Mr. HIGBY moved to table the bill. Rejected—55 against 73. The bill then passed—78 against 49.

The SPEAKER presented a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting a supplemental report on trade with the British North American Provinces. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means and ordered printed.

The SPEAKER also presented a communication from the General of the Army, with reports of the several District Commanders, as to the recent elections in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Louisiana. Referred to Committee on Reconstruction.

Mr. LAWRENCE, (Ohio,) from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to establish a Department of Law, which was ordered printed and recommitted.

Mr. BENJAMIN, from the Committee on Retrenchment, reported a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Navy for copies of the correspondence in reference to the sale of two iron clads, the Oneota and Catawba. Adopted.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr. LAWRENCE, of Ohio, in the Chair, with the understanding that no further business would be done to-day, the Speaker, however, notifying the House it was possible the attendance of the House might be desired at the bar of the Senate at 12 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. GARFIELD delivered an elaborate prepared speech on the financial question, concluding as follows:—"For my own part, my course is taken. In view of all the facts of our situation, of all the terrible experiences of the past, both at home and abroad, and of the united testimony of the wisest and bravest statesmen who have lived and labored during the past century, it is my firm conviction that any considerable increase of the volume of our inconvertible paper money will shatter public credit, paralyze industry, and oppress the poor, and that the gradual restoration of our ancient standard of value will lead us by the safest and surest path to national prosperity and the steady pursuits of peace."

The Committee rose and the House adjourned.

IMPEACHMENT.

Confidence on Both Sides—Probable Postponement—Acquittal More Probable—Chase in the Intrigue—It is Aimed at Grant.

WASHINGTON, May 15, 1868.

Both the impeachers and anti-impeachers are confident this morning. The friends of Johnson have all along said they would have enough votes to acquit, and that if one Senator became sick, another would be ready to supply his place. The Radicals still claim a majority on one of the articles, but the fact that the President has heretofore been the best informed, leads many to believe he will prove so still.

Howard and Conkling are both convalescent, while Grimes's condition is such that he cannot possibly be in his seat to-morrow. It is, therefore, altogether probable that the vote will be again postponed.

The full proportions of the plot to defeat impeachment have not been developed, but scattered threads are being seized here and there. As indicated in the dispatches early in the trial, the central figure among the Republicans who opposed impeachment, is Chief Justice Chase. His position made it unnecessary that his opinion should be made public, but they have nevertheless been well known here, and his bearing during the trial has been marked by some characteristics which so early induced a distrust of Grimes and Trumbull. He has been throughout most intimate with the President's counsel and with Rev. erdy Johnson, who furnishes the apparent respectability and real brains for the Democratic side of the Senate, and lastly with all the doubtful Republicans. They have been gathered around him at dinner parties, and have been made the special recipients of social blandishments, in which his accomplished daughter is so well versed. Chase's own ambition, and his hostility to Wade, and still greater hostility to Grant, are known. It is also known that each of the four Republicans who have openly declared for acquittal, is opposed to Grant, and some of them have personal piques to gratify at Wade's expense.

The Chronicle of this morning has a double leaded leader, evidently written by Forney, declaring that Chase, after Lincoln's nomination in 1864, tried to organize a movement to divide the party, and only retired to the Supreme bench when that failed, and asserting the belief that the ultimate purpose of Chase is to have three presidential candidates in the field with the nope of throwing the election into the House and certainly defeating Grant.

The intimate relations of Secretary McCulloch with his two predecessors and their partisans, continues to be the theme of comment here, as also does the fact that Mr. Johnson and his counsel knew how these four Senators would vote early in the trial, while their most intimate friends within their own party were deceived to the last.

This morning Mr. Woodward tried to get before the House his question of privilege and resolution for a Committee to inquire into the conduct of the Missouri delegation, in attempting to influence the course of Senator Henderson on impeachment. Mr. Loan said their interviews with their Senator were had and the letter written at his instigation. The Speaker decided it was not a privileged question, as the House was not custodian of the honor of the Senate, nor competent to take notice of the infringement of its privileges. The House then proceeded to the consideration of private bills.

There was a consultation of Radical Senators last evening at Mr. Stanton's residence. Messrs. Wade and Wilson advised Mr. Stanton to stick, whether the President was convicted or not, as the Senate would refuse to confirm a successor. Mr. Cameron declared that if conscience made cowards of Senators in this battle they need never go before the people for excuse or vindication. The General is especially bitter on Fessenden, Henderson and Van Winkle.

Governor Hamilton, of Texas, gave Sam Randall of Philadelphia, a good cuning yesterday for insulting him in the street. Sam has a rod in pickle for him in Philadelphia when he goes back, they say. Mr. Hamilton would have been roughly handled by the Randall party, but for General Cameron, who, with his black thorn, laid the blackguards out right and left.

Mr. A. T. Stewart authorizes me to deny the report that General Grant has determined to have his name withdrawn from the nomination at Chicago. Mr. Stewart says Grant is the man for the Republicans first, last and all the time.

Henderson, by his letter, shows that he is for acquittal. This missive has flopped down the Missouri delegation in the House completely. Van Winkle and Willey will both vote for acquittal, which makes the required nineteen votes for the President, and makes the impeachment trial a farce. All depends on Willey of West Virginia. If he goes either for the President or for Congress, he gives the verdict. Mr Chase and Mr. Johnson are both confident of acquittal.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The Tribune's Washington dispatch says: Anthony and Sprague are both doubtful, and are strongly claimed by the President's friends as sure to vote for acquittal.

The Times' dispatch says: Randall, of Pennsylvania, who received a sound caning from Governor Hamilton, of Texas, yesterday evening, is a perfect stranger to Hamilton, who never saw him before, and the insult from Randall is perfectly unaccountable.

Boys in Blue and the Recreant Senators.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—At a meeting of the Boys in Blue this evening, presided over by Gen. Joshua T. Owen, a resolution was unanimously adopted expressing the belief that the course of Senators Grimes, Fessenden and Trumbull is promoted by malice, jealousy, disappointment, and perhaps a baser motive, and no punishment known to us would express our utter detestation of these three recreants, who are today branded with infamous notoriety, and though the chief sselected by these conspirators wear the erminal robes of high office, or bear the insignia of distinguished service in our ranks, they will find us in future as in the past, faithful, fearless, and invincible in our devotion to the great party which sustained us during the war.

PHILADELPHIA, May 15.—The Republican City Executive Committee to-night adopted a resolution that the conviction of Andrew Johnson is imperatively required by the evidence submitted to the Court, and the world and all loyal men will reguard with detestation any recreant Senator who, from selfish considerations, refuses to vote for the conviction of the great criminal whose guilt has been made manifest to every honest mind in the country.

BOSTON, May 15.—Richards Dana Jr. today introduced in the House a resolution solemnly deprecating all attempts to bring to bear upon Senators in the discharge of their judicial duties the force of asserted local opinions, and still more the force of the organization, discipline, opinion or wishes of political parties. It was indefinitely postponed—101 against 89. A similar resolution was introduced in the Senate by Gen. Schrouder and referred to the Committee on Federal relations.

Health of Senators—Impeachment Speculation—A Caucus of Republicans—Probably No Verdict To-Day—Eleventh Article Has the Best Chance, &c., &c.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 15, 1868.

HEALTH OF SENATORS—IMPEACHMENT.

Senator Conkling continues to improve in health, and from present appearances will be able to appear in his seat to-morrow.

Senator Grimes is in better physical condition.

Senator Howard does not show any marked signs of convalescence.

It is not certain that the vote on impeachment will be taken to-morrow.

Specials report a caucus of Republican Senators was held to-day, but no definite conclusion reached as to the course to be pursued on Saturday. Another caucus would be held later in the day and it was believed the result will be the postponement of the vote to-morrow. Senator Wade is confident, however, that the conviction of the President can be secured on the 11th article, and perhaps on one other. The President's friends count eighteen Senators positively for acquittal.

A CAUCUS.

Less than half the Republican Senators had a consultation at Senator Pomeroy's to-night, with reference to impeachment. The conference continued more than three hours. Senator Wade was present, and also Senator Wilson, who has just returned from New York. The entire subject was canvassed and notes compared as to what Senators could be relied upon for the conviction of the President. It was agreed that the eleventh of the impeachment articles stood the best chance on conviction. It is understood these Senators are in favor of a vote being taken to-morrow, but that question will be determined by a full Senate, hence there is now uncertainty on the question. The Democrats to-night express more confidence of the acquittal of the President than the Republicans do of his conviction.

"WHEREAS, Painful rumors are in circulation that partly by unworthy jealousies, and partly by corrupt influences, pecuniary and otherwise, most actively employed, efforts are being made to influence Senators improperly, and to prevent them from performing their high duty; therefore,

"Resolved, That we hereby appoint an hour of prayer, from 9 to 10 o'clock tomorrow, to invoke mercy from God upon our nation, and to beseech him to save our Senators from errors, and so influence them that their decision shall be in truth and righteousness, and shall increase security and prosperity to our beloved Union."

ITALY.

SELECTION FROM A POEM BY ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE.

(Garibaldi.)

Warrior, what of the night?
Whether it be or not be
Night is as one thing to me.
I, for one, at the least
Ask not of dews if they blight,
Ask not of flames if they slay,
Ask not of prince or priest,
How long ere we put them away.

(Then of Mazzini.)

Master, what of the night?
Child, night is not at all
Anywhere fallen, or to fall,
Save in our star-stricken eyes.
Forth of our eyes it takes flight;
Look we but once nor before
Nor behind us, but straight on the skies,
Night is not then any more.

(Then Italy herself.)

Italy, what of the night?
Ah, child, child, it is long;
Moonbeam and starbeam and song
Leave it dumb now and dark;
Yet I perceive on the height
Eastward, and now very far,
A song too loud for the lark,
A light too bright for a star.

THE HEIRESS IN JEOPARDY.

It was one day when I was about seven years old, after an unusual bustle in the family mansion, and my being arrayed in a black frock, much to my inconvenience in the hot month of August, that I was told my enthusiastic old uncle had gone like a lamb, and that I was the heiress to ten thousand per annum. This information, given with an air of infinite importance, made no very great impression upon me at the time, and, in spite of the circumstance being regularly dwelt on, by my French governness, at Camden House, every heinous misdemeanor, I had thought little or nothing on the subject, till, at the age of eighteen, I was called on to bid adieu to Levizaz and piroquettes, and hear my uncle's will read by my guardian.

It furnished me, indeed, with ample materials for thinking. Dr. Marrowfat's face, neither human nor divine—appeared positively frightful as he recited its monstrous contents. It appeared, that my father and uncle, though brothers, had wrangled and jangled through life; and that the only subject on which they ever agreed was, supporting the dignity of the Vavasour family. That, in a moment of unprecedented unison, they had determined that, as the title fell to my Cousin Edgar, and the estates to me, to keep both united in the family, we should marry. And it seemed whichever party violated these precious conditions, was actually dependent on the other for bread and butter. When I first heard of this arrangement I blessed myself, and Sir Edgar cursed himself. A passionate, overbearing, dissolute young man thought I, for a husband, for the husband of an orphan—of a girl who has not a nearer relation than himself in the world—who has no father to advise her, no mother to support her, a professed rake, too, who will merely view me as an incumbrance on his estate, who will think no love, no confidence, no respect due to me; who will insult my feelings, deride my sentiments, and wither with unkindness the best affections of my nature. No! I concluded, as my constitutional levity returned—I have the greatest possible respect for guardians—revere their office, and tremble at their authority, but to make myself wretched merely to please them—no! no! I positively cannot think of it.

Well, time—who is no respector of persons—went on. The gentleman was within a few months of being twenty-one, and, on the day of his attaining age, he was to say whether it was his pleasure to fulfill his engagement. My opinion, I found, was not to be asked. A titled husband was procured for me, and I was to take him, and be thankful. I was musing on my singular situation, when a thought struck me. Can I not see him and judge of his character unsuspected by himself? This is the season when he pays an annual visit to my godmother; why not persuade her to let me visit her incog? The idea, strange as it was, was instantly acted on, and a week saw me at Vale-royal, without carriage, without horses, without servants, to appearance a girl of no pretensions or expectations, and avowedly dependent on a distant relation.

To this hour I remember my heart beating audibly, as I descended to the dining room, where I was to see, for the first time, the future arbiter of my fate—and I never shall forget my surprise when a pale gentlemanly and rather reserved young man, was introduced to me for my noisy, distracting and distracted Baronet! Preciously have I been hoaxed, thought I, as after a long and rather interesting conversation with Sir Edgar, I, with the other ladies, left the room. Days rolled on in succession. Chance continually brought us together, and prudence began to whisper, "You had better return home." Still I lingered—till, one evening, towards the close of a long tete-a-tete conversation. on my saying that I never considered money and happiness as synonymous terms, and thought it very possible to live on five hundred a year, he replied, "One admission more—could you live on it with me? You are doubtless acquainted," he continued, with increasing emotion,—"with my unhappy situation, but not perhaps aware, that revolting from a union with Miss Vavasour, I have resolved on taking orders, and accepting a living from a friend. If, foregoing more brilliant prospects, you would condescend to share my retirement," —his manner, the moment, the lovely scene which surrounded us, all combined against me, and heaven only knows what answer I might have been hurried into had I not got out with a gaiety foreign to my heart—"I can say nothing to you till you have, in person, explained your sentiments to Miss Vavasour. Nothing—positively nothing."

"But why? Can seeing her again and again," he returned, "ever reconcile me to her manners, habits, and sentiments—or any estates induce me to place at the head of my table, a hump-backed blue stocking, in green spectacles."

"Hump-backed?"

"Yes, from her cradle. But you color. Do you know her?"

"Intimately. She's my most particular friend!"

"I sincerely beg your pardon. What an unlucky dog I am! I hope you're not offended?"

"Offended? Oh, no, not offended. Hump-backed! Good heavens! Not the least offended! Hump-backed, of all things in the world!" and I involuntarily gave a glance at the glass.

"I had no conception," he continued, as soon as he could collect himself, "that there was any acquaintance."

"The most intimate," I replied, "and I can assure you that you have been represented to her, as the most dissolute, passionate, awkward, ill-disposed young man breathing."

"The devil!"

"Don't swear, but hear me. See your cousin. You will find yourself mistaken. With her answer you shall have mine." And, with a ludicrous attempt to smile, when I was monstrously inclined to cry, I contrived to make my escape—I heard something very like "Damn Miss Vavasour," by the way to my own apartment. We did not meet again—for the next morning, in no very enviable frame of mind, I returned home.

A few weeks afterwards, Sir Edgar came of age. The bells were ringing blithely in the breeze—the tenants were carousing on the lawn—when he drove up to the door. My cue was taken. With a large pair of green spectacles on my nose—in a darkened room, —I prepared for this tremendous interview. After hems and hah's innumerable, and with confusion the most distressing to himself, and the most amusing to me, he gave me to understand that he could not fulfil the engagement made for him, and regretted it had ever been contemplated. "No—no," said I, in a voice that made him start, taking off my green spectacles with a profound courtesy—"No! no! it is preposterous to suppose that Sir Edgar Vavasour would ever connect himself with an ill bred, awkward, hump-backed girl!" Exclamations and explanations, laughter and raileries, intermixed with more serious feelings, followed, but the result of it all was—that—that—that—we are married.

Journalism.

Acting in a two-fold capacity, a free press not only speaks for the people, but schools them how to speak. It is the vehicle of public sentiment, and at the same time gives tone and direction to that sentiment.

Between a free people and its free press there must necessarily be a close bond of sympathy. The latter relies upon the former for support, and the former relies upon the latter for mental pabulum. The one reflects the other. Hence it is that the character of the one to a great extent determines the character of the other. Hence it is that we may very accurately gage the mental, moral, and social standing of a nation, by the tone of its journals, or as accurately determine from an examination of this standard what kind of newspapers are in vogue.

In arguing what a newspaper should be, a leading magazine writer recently asserted that "it should have no opinions of its own, should pay no heed to consistency, and never be influenced by the fear lest the views expressed in it to-day are not those of last week, or may not be those of the week to come." Were such theories to prevail, the journalist would continue to be a mere machine, to chronicle the every-day events of life, and nothing more.

He has, however, a higher mission; a much greater responsibility devolves upon him. He holds a position far above that of any of his fellow-mortals for educating, controlling and directing public sentiment into proper channels. It is his prerogative, aye duty, not to keep along with, but to lead this public sentiment, to rightly perform the task allotted him by doing all in his power to rightly mould the views and opinions of his readers.

It is for him to be candid, straightforward, fearless, and, being such, he will at all times be consistent, It is for him to have honest convictions and opinions of his own, and to give expression to them without fear or favor. If he fails to do this he falls short of his duty, and is an almost useless laborer in the journalistic field.

Journalism may at present be said to be in its infancy. For ages the pulpit, bar, and medicine have ranked as learned professions.

Not till within a few years has the American press occupied an independent position. Formerly politicians owned the newspapers and made them subservient to their own purposes and elevation, or they were tied down to and hampered by parties from which they drew support as paid party organs. The absence of the telegraph, which now simultaneously flashes intelligence all over the country, gave a monopoly to metropolitan journals, and the provincial press languished and led a precarious existence.

A new era is now dawning, however, and American journalism is taking long and frequent "jumps forward." From a vocation it is becoming recognized as a learned profession. The journalist is coming to have a right perception of his office. and from being a news medium becomes a public educator. The editor and the politician are changing places and the former now "owns" and controls the latter. Every city and town is establishing its first class newspaper, and every fireside now requires its accustomed daily mental food. The "Key-hole Listeners" are disappearing before the advance of an elevated, refined, and progressive press, and the Colonel Divers are giving place to gentlemen.

As the people develop intellectually a higher standard of journalism is being attained, which will ultimately exclude all the adventurers who have hitherto resorted to the quill, not from any noble aspirations, but to attain mercenary ends.—David W. Judd at the Alpha Delta Phi Banquet.

American Artificial Babies.

Timothee Trimm, of Le Petit Journal, Paris, has learned that in the United States there is a large manufactory of infants—artificial babes, of course—which act in the most natural manner possible, when properly handled. The object of these is singular—they are sold to travelers. Armed with an infant, one is admitted to first class cars and ladies' saloons. If any doubt should exist on the part of inquisitive wretches, a string is pulled, and the dear little baby sends forth a piercing yell. The tariff of prices is as follows:

Common traveling infants, yielding intermittent cries of fear, and capable of being put into the pocket, $2.50.

Second class, crying not too loudly, but lamentably and insupportably, $5.

Third class, full squaller, with a very piercing and aggravating voice of five octaves, $10.

The same, arranged as a prompt repeater, $12.

Fifth class, first quality, capable of continued squalling, $15.

A TURIN correspondent of the London Telegraph has been favored with a view of the royal presents to Prince Humbert's bride. He writes: Besides parures of diamonds, emeralds, and brilliants, and all sorts of marvels in precious stones, there is a plain necklace of Neapolitan coral worthy of Venus Anadyomene, and to be coveted by queens—merely round pale rose-colored beads, strung on elastic, but worthy sixty thousand francs! The chief parure of brilliants cost one million three hundred thousand lire, and that of emeralds and brilliants but little less. Besides these and a host of family gifts, Marguerite of Savoy will receive a golden casket, richly chased and enamelled, from the town of Turin, for which the municipality has paid £4,000. Florence, Venice, Naples, Milan and other cities of "United" Italy, make nuptial offerings to the fair young bride. The laces and robes of the trousseau are splendid beyond description.

ENGLISH CONSULS.—The British consular establishments now employ 254 persons, at salaries ranging from $200 to $10,000, in gold, per annum. There are 16 British consular officers in the United States, 24 in France, 13 in Italy, 15 in Russia, 42 in Turkey, 19 in Spain, 12 in Greece, 10 in Brazil, 9 in Egypt, 9 in Morocco, 5 in Peru, and 8 in Portugal. Of these 23 are called "Consuls General," the additional title of "Minister Resident" being given to those residing at Hamburg and Tanjier, and that of "agent" to those at Egypt, Tunis, and Bucharest. At Constantinople, the Consul General is also Judge of the Consular Court. The total annual cost of these officers is $855,800, nearly all for salaries. During 1867, the British Government received $85,500 in fees from the consuls.

RIVER NEWS.

The Monongahela river appeared to be at a stand last evening with nine feet six inches in the channel. In the Allegheny it is difficult to determine the stage of water, as the marks are almost obliterated; as near as we could determine, there were in the neighborhood of ten feet six inches. The weather continues very changeable; it has been raining almost incessantly for two days past, though at this writing the clouds are breaking up, and it looks as if we might have some clear weather again.

The arrivals include the St. Charles, from Cincinnati, and the Bayard, from Parkersburg. The same boats departed again, and there were no other departures besides these.

Oil City telegrams in the forenoon yesterday report four feet and rising and raining. Thirty-nine inches at Tidioute and rising.

The St. Charles had an excellent trip up, in the neighborhood of three hundred tons, and she had a very good trip out again last night.

The Armenia, Capt. A. C. McCallum, is now in turn for St. Louis, and will be the first boat out.

The towboats James Gilmore, with nine barges, and 80,000 bushels of coal and coke, and the Star, with about eight barges, and 90,000 bushels of coal, both bound for Louisville were getting ready to leave last evening.

The towboat Diamond left here yesterday for Memphis, with ten barges of coal, having sold six after leaving Louisville. The weather is very stormy on the lower Ohio, the Diamond having been four days in making the trip from Louisville to Cairo.

The St. Marys left Cincinnati for this port on Thursday. She has 2,621 sacks of grain for Pittsburgh.

The Lady Grace, at Cincinnati, has reshipped the following freight for this city; 2,700 pigs of lead, 10 boxes merchandise, and 262 sacks of corn.

The Memphis Bulletin, of Monday, says: The steamer Milbrey, lying at our landing, was discovered to be on fire about three o'clock yesterday morning, and before the fire could be put out it had destroyed the texas and pilot-house, besides damaging the cabin to a considerable extent. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The Milbrey is owned by parties in St. Louis, and we understand is fully insured.

The Walter B. Dance will "choke a stump" until prices get better in the Omaho trade. As it is at present, the boats of the "O" line are, owing to their greater size, enabled to carry freights at a less rate than the boats of less capacity.

Erastus Copley, of Evansville, jumped overboard from the Alaska, opposite Golconda, on the 9th inst., and was drowned. It is supposed that he was laboring under temporary insanity at the time.

The Wabash river is over all the bottom lands, and still rising at Vincennes at the rate of half an inch per hour. At Terre Haute it is about at a stand.

James Kelsey, formerly wharfmaster at Aurora, Indiana, who recently returned from Omaha, was found dead in his bed at Aurora last Friday. An empty vival was found on his person, labeled strychine, indicating that he had committed suicide.

The Jackson (Miss.) Clarion, of the 16th, says: "The shipping of lumber to St. Louis from this State has become a very considerable business. We saw ten car loads yesterday, from mills at Lawrence Station, passing over the Vicksburg road. The mills along the line of the New Orleens railroad are almost daily forwarding heavy shipments.

The Pargoud last trip made the run from Memphis to Vicksburg, four hundred miles, in twenty-eight hours including all stoppages. She went from Lake Providence to Vicksburg, a distance seventy-five miles, in three hours and ten minutes, including one landing.

Jas. Whittaker, formerly engineer of steamers Jewess and Nightingale, died last Friday in Richmond, Indiana.

The Ezra Porter is out of the Red river trade, and has started for Pittsburgh.

We take the following from the Louisville Courier, of Wednesday: The towboat Ajax will take 240 bushels of coal to New Orleans to-day. The Dick Fulton and Grand Lake are due to-day with about the same quantity, which will about complete the shipments of coal for the Southern market.

The towboat Panther sunk one coal barge and a fuel boat between Marietta and Pittsburgh.

A St. Louis telegram, under date of Wednesday, says: The Post Boy broke ninety-four floor timbers by coming in contact with a snag in the Missouri. Capt. W. J. Kountz, contractor, loads the Ida for Fort Benton. The Dan Stevens and Leni Leoti are about to leave for the mountains. So far thirty-seven boats have left, two of which have been sunk by snags, and are a total loss. The Davage and two barges leave to-day with 800 tons iron ore for Steubenville and Pittsburgh.

The Wauanita left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

The St. Louis Dispatch, of Wednesday, says: Business at the wharf is summed up in a few words, there being little life or animation in any of our river trades. The present week is the dullest of the season, and what is more discouraging is the gloomy prospects for the next three months. We have never before in our experience seen so many idle boats and boats and boatmen at this season of the year. Some of our most valuable steamboats are tied to the bank aud are literally worthless, from the fact that there is no posibility of their being able to make a dollar this season. What the fall will bring forth it is difficult to tell, but there is a general belief that river commerce will assume its wonted activity after harvest.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 139¼@139⅞, a slight decline.

CONNECTICUT will replace DIXON in the Senate with ex-Governor BUCKINGHAM, who has been duly nominated in the Republican Legislative caucus.

MANY CITIZENS of Philadelphia, including not a few soldiers, have made a requisition on General HECTOR TYNDALE, to become the Republican candidate for Mayor of that city.

IT REQUIRES a two-thirds vote of the Senate to convict the President. But a majority vote regulates all other incidents of the trial. There is, fortunately, an uncorrupted majority yet left, who will not suffer a verdict to be pronounced until the hands of the Judges are found to be clean.

THE Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company have resolved to increase the capital stock of the company twenty-five per cent., which will make the capital nearly twenty-seven millions. The Board declare the extra money is needed to develop the company's traffic.

THE SIGNIFICANT intimation from Speaker COLFAX to the House, prior to the adjournment last evening, that the attendance of that body might be required in the Senate to-day, favors the probability that a verdict on Impeachment may be rendered. Should this be the case, and should that verdict convict the accused, we will very gladly acknowledge ourselves false prophets.

SENATOR HENDERSON declares that his constituents will not condemn his vote when they hear his reasons. He declares against ten of the articles, and that he is in doubt only as to one. Having previously pledged himself verbally but in positive terms to vote for the excepted article, there are those who hope that he will be more faithful to this pledge than to his engagement to resign. But we have had no confidence in either.

FOR an unprovoked and gratuitous insult to a loyal Texan, RANDALL, M. C. from this State, received a caning from the aggrieved party, in the street at Washington on Thursday. The impression is general that the Congressman deserved all he got. His companions interfered to save him from the chastisement, when Senator CAMERON "went in on his muscle," and, it is reported, scattered the blackguards right and left. The sturdy old Senator was never known to turn his back on his enemy, or to flinch from a friend.

AT a meeting of the Connellesville Railroad, stockholders, held yesterday in this city, the ordinance and supplement thereto, recently passed by the Baltimore Councils to enable the Company to make connection with the Baltimore and Ohio road, thus affording a direct outlet to the Monumental City from Pittsburgh, was accepted under the qualifying conditions. The road will be vigorously pushed forward, and we have the public assurance of its energetic President, W. O. Hughart, Esq., that the entire work will be completed inside of the forthcoming two years.

THE BILL admitting to representation the States of Louisiana, Georgia, Alabama and the two Carolinas passed the House on Thursday by a vote of 108 to 35. A motion to strike out Alabama from its provisions, on the ground that a majority of its voters had not adopted a Constitution as required by the Reconstruction laws, was lost, 59 yeas to 73 nays, although supported by twenty-four Republican members. The member from the Allegheny district with two other Republicans voted against the final passage of the bill. As the SPALDING bill, making a provisional disposition of the Alabama case, had already passed the House, and awaits Senatorial action, the Republican votes, which have been thus withheld from the legislation of Thursday, will be fully justified by the record, and, also, no doubt, by the result in the other House.

THE PENDING INVESTIGATION into the charges of venality, which have with so much probability been made against Senators, awakens a storm of abuse from the Democratic press. The accused Senators, and their friends, the Conservative journals, do not in the meantime find it compatible with their highly delicate sense of official dignity, to challenge a searching inquiry. If these renegades be guilty, as the people certainly believe them, of the acceptance of bribes, pecuniary or political but equally personal, they well know that they have gone too far, in the downward road to infamy, for any remaining hopes of salvation, and they will bear to the last the front of brazen assurance with which they have already swallowed their own records, the respect of former political associates and the scathing condemnation of an indignant people.

SALMON P. CHASE.

This man has leaped into an unenviable distinction. It is not sixty days since he was the most exalted Judge in all the land, and not more conspicuous for his abilities, or for the merited honors of a career of eminent usefulness in high public trusts than for the universal and apparently just regards of a confiding people. Elevated to the Federal bench, clothed with the functions of a Chief Justice, his countrymen regarded him as removed forever from the arena of partisanship and, after the example which each of his predecessors had illustrated with such conscientious fidelity, consecrating his remaining years to the service of Justice. There were found, here and there, those who remembered the weak points in his political character, and there were some who continued to hold that he was personally untrustworthy. But for the most part, such as had known him throughout life, and many of whom had observed with regret the indications of the past, were content to believe that his discretion coincided with his ambition in accepting the Judicial elevation as the highest attainable consummation of his hopes. And for four years, his career as a Judge has satisfied the expectations of his warmest friends and, it must be equally said, has until recently falsified the apprehensions of his former opponents.

Called by his station to preside over the Senate in the trial of impeachment, it soon began to be whispered that the Chief Justice was not dead to his former political ambition. It was hinted that he regarded the Presidency as an office still more exalted than that which he yet held, and that he still sought to achieve its acquisition. These whispering hints soon grew into charges, bolder and more specific, that he would so use the privileges of his office, the opportunities of his official connection with this trial, the functions reposed in him only for the highest ends of justice, as to further these aspirations, and place him in the line of the Presidential succession. Nay more, it was charged that he had engaged himself directly in intrigues to create dissensions among Senators nominally of his own political faith, constituting the majority of the Court, for the sole purpose of securing a result favorable to his secret hopes. Again and again, were his interlocutory decisions challenged as in accordance with this design, and there were many to declare that this upright Judge was secretly using an influence, which the Constitution forbade him openly to exercise, for the acquittal of the accused, for the disruption of the great party which led the prosecution in the popular behalf, and for such a recast of political elements as to destroy the aspirations of other candidates and secure consideration for himself.

These hints, these whispered insinuations, these bolder declarations, these direct and explicit charges, we,—who had never admired the politician but were anxious to respect the judge—have steadily and frankly declined to listen to. We held to our faith in men, to our trust in the Chief Justice. We were too confident. Judge CHASE deserved a stronger censure than had been insinuated, for he has been, if events can prove anything, guilty of complicity in the most unscrupulous and shameless intrigue that ever disgraced an American Senate or sullied the Judiciary of any civilized people. The Senators who lent themselves to his purposes have achieved a vile eminence in infamy, but no language is strong enough to declare the public detestation for a Judge who, with the ermine around him, has polluted the fountains of Justice and used its sworn exponents as his tools. This man has, there seems no longer room for any doubt, availed himself of his country's extremity to push his personal fortunes. He has prostituted a great trial to the dirty uses of a political intrigue. He has perverted his functions, falsified his obligations, betrayed a sacred trust, dishonored a confiding people, and outraged the decency of the world. But his vaulting ambition hath o'erleaped itself. His shameful plot has exploded too soon for its success. He can never be President, as he is no longer an honored and respected magistrate, but, so long as he shall live, as a judge or as a citizen, will not be remembered as the Chief Justice of a great nation, but as the chief traitor of an abortive cabal, as such to be the scorn of a people which once honored him.

Truly, these are sad times when corrupt marks and wins for its own, one after the other, the most exalted servants of the Republic!

IN VIEW of the defection disclosed on the Republican side of the Senate, some of the Conservative journals are strenuously urging members of the National Convention to sink all other considerations but that of success, and go in for candidates and principles which will offend nobody. How success can come, from the adoption of this advice, we cannot see. The Radicals constitute the greater part of the Republican party, and they are in earnest. Neither insipid nominees or platforms will content them. Republicanism, with the Radical element left out or ignored, would amount to nothing, and might better be christened with some other name.

But there is no probability that the Chicago Convention will accept these Conservative counsels. All the indications lead to the belief that the candidates and platform will be such as heartily to contout the men who have hitherto given distinctive character and momentum to the Republican movement.

IN JANUARY, at a meeting of the Republican Congressional Commiitee, Mr. FOWLER of Tennessee made a speech in which he said: "There is no protection, no safety, no peace, for the loyal people of the South while ANDREW JOHNSON remains in the White House. If Congress refuses to impeach and depose him, the blood of thousands of loyal Southerners will rest upon our souls?" It is uncharitable and harsh, in view of the sudden and total change that has come over him, touching this great matter, to conclude that he is now under the influence of sinister inducements?

These men who have been trusted as Republican leaders until they fancied that they owned the party can have no further confidence from the masses. Our judgment is that their defection is as sure as that of Dixon and Doolittle, and that it is folly to look to them at all as members of the party. The issue is against nullification, and as they side with our enemies we must part company. The principle is more important than their services.

These statements, from the Philadelphia North American, are worthy of general acceptance as just and true. The Republican party can no longer hold fellowship with men who have proved themselves shamefully false in an hour of public extremity. It has nothing in common with traitors who, whether for reasons of political intrigue, personal jealousies or a direct price in money, have betrayed their party and fearfully endangered the public peace.

The time has come to recognize the line which the traitors, not the Republican party, have themselves drawn between the friends and the enemies of the Union. They have ostracised themselves, and the great party of the people washes its hands of them forever. We remit them to the fate which they have chosen. We leave them in the new alliance which tolerates so long as it can use them, and will, in due time, spurn them as not less worthless because personally and politically dishonored. In their defection, they carry with them no solid elements of the Republican strength. The great body of personal and political friends whom they had won by a long career of public usefulness, are shocked at their treachery, but rally about the Red, White and Blue more closely than before. The traitors miscalculated the length of their stroke; they overrated their own personal prestige, and utterly forgot that they were the creatures, not the creators of the Republican organization. Instead of marching over a corps of the Republican army in solid column to the Democratic camp, their revolt dwindles to a cowardly and contemptible desertion of traitors and camp followers. Instead of a schism and a general breaking up of our party, we behold with satisfaction its ranks purified of treason, its files again closed up, its spirit more resolute and its devotion to the Union more uncompromising than before.

Said one of the renegades, (Trumbull,) last Sunday evening, "this is an unimportant matter: it will all blow over in ten days." He has perhaps already discovered his mistake. Another, (Fessenden,) is said to be already startled at the indignation which his recreancy has provoked. He sees only the beginning of the end. These Senators have achieved irreparable dishonor and have nothing that they dare show for it. Reputation, friends, honor, the leadership of a powerful party, the confidence of a great people, even the respect of their life-time opponents, the approbation of their own consciences, and, it may be, the assured secresy of the very conditions of their treason, —all are forever lost. If, withal, the plot upon which they staked so much, should fail at last, how profitless the infamy!

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The Anniversaries of several religious Societies have just been held at New York. We reproduce in a condensed form some items of a general character. The American Home Missionary Society held its annual mesting at the Broadway Tabernacle. From the annual report we learn the Society employs nine hundred and eighty missionaries in twenty States and Territories. Fifty-eight churches have been organized, fifty-six new churches completed, and twenty-eight are still in process of erection. Sixty-eight thousand three hundred children are instructed in the Sabbath schools of the Society. Eighty-five missionaries report revivals and conversions numbering thirty-two hundred and ninety. The expenditures of the Society during the year amounted to two hundred and ninety-two thousand, one hundred and thirty-five dollars. The fortieth anniversary of the American Seamen's Society took place Monday evening last in the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church. Thirty-six chaplains and sailor missionaries are employed by this Society, who have been laboring in ten of our own ports, and twenty different stations in foreign countries. During the past year four hundred thirty-one new libraries were sent to sea. The expenditures of the year amount to fifty-four thousand and twenty-two dollars.

The doings of the General Synod of the Lutheran Church of the United States have appeared from day to day in a condensed form. Among the important actions of this large body on Wednesday, which deserve a fuller notice, was the consideration of the revised Constitution of the "Evangelical Lutheran Church in the United States." The first and second sections refer to the organization into Synods and the character of the delegates. But the third contains the articles of faith, in which it is affirmed that the Word of God, as contained in the Old and New Testaments, are the only infallible rule of faith and practice, and the Augsburgh Confession, as a correct exhibition of the fundamental doctrines of the Divine word, of the faith of that Church. This section was adopted by a rising vote, after which the Synod united in singing "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

The Christian Intelligencer contains an editorial on "The Church," in which in gives the different conceptions of the Church. The first is the ROMAN (though held by others also,) that the Church is constituted by authority, chiefly. It asserts that Christ received into his Church whom he would, in human person, and delegated the same authority to Peter and his successors. This gives all the power to the clergy, and makes ordination the most important rite of the Church. The second is the ANGLICAN, (held chiefly by the Episcopalians in this country.) This asserts that the Church is constituted by a ceremony chiefly. It teaches that the application of water to the person is the essential element in Church membership. According to it, the unbaptized are in no sense church members, but are first constituted such by baptism. The third is the REFORMED. According to this, the primary conception of the Church is that it is the Body of Christ. The members of the Church are Church members because they are members of Christ. This simple relation to Christ was all that existed at the first. The latter is elaborated at great length; but the want of space will not permit us to present the arguments adduced.

The Forty-third Annual Report of the American Tract Society shows that the Society has received from donations during the year one hundred and eighteen thousand dollars, and from sales four hundred thousand dollars.

Rev. Dr. Spear assumes the ground in the New York Observer, as an offset to the fears of Dr. Patterson of the New School body: First, that uniformity of opinion is impossible in a free church—any church of which intelligent, reasoning men are members. Second—If all the Calvanistic branches of the Presbyterian family in the United States were now merged into one ecclesiastical body, there would be in that body as substantial and close and sincere unity of faith and practice as in any other church, Protestant or Romanist, now on earth.

The Independent, in speaking of the custom of the Friends to decide questions by "weight" and not by vote, which sometimes happened to be in manifest conflict with the judgment of the majority, represents the action of the late meeting of the executive committee of the Peace Association of Orthodox Friends, at Cincinnati, at variance with the old customs. Questions upon which there was a difference of opinion were decided according to the way of the "world's people," by yeas and nays. The meetings, too, were opened with reading the Scriptures and prayer, in a manner just as "formal" as that of a Presbyterian or Episcopal Assembly. This is progress in the right direction.

The First Congregational Church in Washingten City has rescinded its action endorsing the sermon of its pastor in favor of tolerating, but not welcoming colored membership. The first resolution states that the church will make no distinction whatever based on caste, color, or race, on any ground other than Christian character, according to their articles of faith and covenant, in the admission of members, and in Christian fellowship with them.

It is feared from alarming indications that Rev. Albert Barnes may yet become a blind old man. His blindness is increasing rather than diminishing. Milton's "Defense of the People of England" cost him his eyes, and he was willing to sacrifice them for the liberties of the people; and the Commentaries of Mr. Barnes, and especially the last volume on the Psalms, have cost him the same price. It is stated he is now obliged to write with the aid of a machine, such as used by Mr. Prescott.

The American Sunday School Union, at Philadelphia, has opened a free reading room, to which all interested in this work are invited. Periodicals of all evangelical denominations are accessible, and information on all topics of a religious nature may be obtained.

Professor Stowe, in a recent article on the Talmud shows contrary to the views of writers generally, that it is indebted to the New Testament, rather than the New Testament to the Talmud. Although a Jewish work, it admits the miraculous power of Christ, and gives as an illustration the raising of Lazarus, with minute details.

Interesting religious services are now being held at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, Sixth street. Last Sabbath eighteen new members were received into the congregation, twelve of whom were young men. The Church is in a highly prosperous condition, and in order to properly accommodate the rapidly increasing attendance of scholars, the Sabbath School room is being fitted up in a very neat and handsome style.

Quite an imposing ceremony took place at the German Lutheran church at Baltimore on the occasion of the dedication of of two bells placed in that church. After the delivery of a brief sermon by the pastor, prayer was offered, the whole congregation standing, and with the pastor, bowing their heads at every mention of the name of Christ. When the Lord's Prayer was said the bells, according to previous arrangement, were slowly tolled. An anthem was then sung, after which the pastor approached the altar, standing with his back to the people, and proceeded to intone a Litany, the congregation—also standing—chanting the responses in a most solemn and reverential manner. At the conclusion of the Litany the pastor turned toward the people, making the sign of the cross, gave the closing benediction and then retired, the congregation meanwhile singing a hymn. This Church is one of the Ritualistic Lutheran Churches.

QUERIES FOR THE TIMES.

What has become of Secretary MCCULLOCH's resignation, which, in consequence of a quarrel with the President, was promised for last Tuesday, no matter how impeachment might result?

Why is it that Secretary MCCULLOCH, ex-Secretary FESSENDEN and ex-Secretary CHASE are in the same "ring," which labors to retain ANDREW JOHNSON in the power which he has avowedly directed in hostility to that party with which the two ex-officers were identified?

What is there in the Treasury policy, or in its past administration, which could operate so powerfully as a bond of common interest between the men who for seven years have been at its head, and the present Executive?

Is there anything rotten in Denmark?

If the President should be acquitted, and should behave himself decently during the brief remnant of his term, and if Gen. GRANT should be elected, and peaceful restoration follow the triumph of the Republican Party, the very men who now hold the Radicals in check, and thus contribute to the result, will be thanked and rewarded, as having saved the Republican Party from self-destruction.—New York Times.

We italicise a very important word in that extract. It covers contingencies, as to which we should regret to believe that the probabilities were equal, in favor of either.

JOHN MINOR BOTTS writes:

"I cannot comprehend the honesty of such votes as we are led to believe are about to be given—and the heart-sick loathing, the withering scorn, the unutterable contempt in which I hold these over-sensitive, double-refined old women politicians, whose feet are covered all over with political corns, you may conceive, but I cannot describe."

THE ELEVENTH ARTICLE.

We reprint this, known as the Stevens article, upon which the remaining hopes of conviction seem to rest. It was prepared by Mr. STEVENS and adopted by the House on the 3d of March:

That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unmindful of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, and in disregard of the Constitution and laws of the United States, did heretofore, to wit, on the 18th day of August, 1866, at the city of Washington and District of Columbia, by public speech, declare and affirm in substance that the Thirty-ninth Congress of the United States was not a Congress of the United States authorized by the Constitution to exercise legislative power under the same; but, on the contrary, was a Congress of only part of the States, thereby denying, and intending to deny that the legislation of said Congress was valid or obligatory upon him, the said Andrew Johnson, except so far as he saw fit to approve of the same, and also thereby denying and intending to deny the power of the said Thirty-ninth Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution of the United States; and in pursuance of said declaration the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, afterwards, to wit, on the 21st day of February, 1868, at the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, did unlawfully, and in disregard of the requirements of the Constitution that he should take care that the laws be faithfully executed, attempt to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, by unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive, means by which he should prevent Edwin M. Stanton from forthwith resuming the functions of the office of Secretary for the Department of War, notwithstanding the refusal of the Senate to concur in the suspension theretofore made by said Andrew Johnson of said Edwin M. Stanton, from said office of Secretary for the Department of War, and also by further unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive, means then and there to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1868, and for other purposes," approved March 2, 1867, and also to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," passed March 2, 1867, whereby the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then, to wit: on the 21st day of February, 1868, at the City of Washington, commit and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

—The anniversary of the American Congregational Union was held Thursday evening at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn. Reports show that seventy of the churches have been assisted during the year, many of them being in Western States. The receipts of the past year have been $70,000, and the expenditures were about the same. Rev. Dr. Bacon was elected President, together with twenty-four Vice Presidents and twenty-two Trustees. Henry Wilson delivered an address, devoted to the encouragement given to Christians in their work. Addresses were also delivered by Rev. Messrs. Storer, Beecher and Malcolm, the latter publicly avowing himself in favor of open communion by the Baptists, of which denomination he is a minister.

—Charles M. Jeffards, imprisoned in Sing Sing, N. Y., under sentence for life for the murder of John W. Matthews, in New York city, was found in the stable of the prison on Wednesday wounded mortally. He was insensible when found, and hence could not state who assaulted him. He died about three o'clock the same day.

—Late dispatches from Japan state that the civil war is vigorously progressing. The Mikado's army had arrived at Jeddo.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

AVOID POISON.

Invalid reader, do you know what nine-tenths of the bitter compounds you are solicited by the proprietors to accept as universal panaceas are composed of? Give heed for a moment. They are manufactured from unpurified alcohol, containing a considerable portion of fusil oil—a poison almost as deadly as prussic acid. The basis of the regular tinctures of the Materia Medica is the same. No amount of "herbal extracts" can overcome the bad tendency of this pernicious element. The essence of sound Rye, thoroughly rectified, is the only stimulant which can be safely used as a component of a tonic, alterative and anti-bilious medicine, and HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the only medicinal preparation in the world in which this article is used as an ingredient. Hence the extraordinary effects of this great specific. It gives strength without producing excitement. No other tonic does this. All the ordinary Bitters flush the face and affect the brain. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS diffuses an agreeable calm through the nervous system, promotes digestion and produces sleep. No other tonic so quickly revives the exhausted physical energies, restores the appetite and removes the gloom and depression which always accompanies weakness of the bodily powers. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions, and which bring paleness to the cheek and suffering to the brow. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure, restores the system to high health, and necessarily proves a valuable adjunct to the digestive organs. A trial is all that is needed to establish it in the confidence of the skeptic.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,
Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Of all these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

CITY OF PITTSBURGH WATER LOAN.

PROPOSALS FOR

OF THE

Bonds of the "Water Extension Loan,"

Will be received at the office of the CITY CONTROLLER, Fourth street.

These are COUPON BONDS, bearing interest at the rate of SEVEN PER CENT. per annum, payable semi-annually, at the office of the City Treasurer, and the Bonds are to be paid off in twenty-five years from April 1, 1868.

By Act of Assembly the Revenue of the Water Works is pledged for the payment of the Bonds and Coupons, and the latter are by law made receivable for Water Rents, and the Act authorizing the Loan creates a SINKING FUND of not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have been issued in pursuance of said Act. The Councils are bound to appropriate annually a sufficient sum for interest, and not less than two per cent. of all bonds which may have issued to go into the Sinking Fund.

The proceeds of these Bonds can only be used for the extension and improvement of the City Water Works, which will increase the revenue, while at present it is far greater than is required to insure the payment of interest and retirement of the Bonds.

The Bonds are EXEMPT FROM STATE, COUNTY and CITY TAX, which, together with all the foregoing advantages, make the Bonds the most desirable security offered to the public.

Bids under par will not be considered.

By order of Finance Committee.

THOMAS STEEL, Controller.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 15, 1868.

Business in gold and bonds is very dull, and quotations fluctuate but a trifle either way; the demand for bonds is entirely confined to 5-20s of 1865 and 1867 from the interior towns for the purpose of exchanging 7-30s, Five-twenties of 1865, called Consols, are better appreciated now, and are the same as those of 1867. Timid investors appreciate the latest issues more, for the reason that they have a year or two longer to run, but when it is once fully understood that neither of the issues of the 5-20s can be distributed before the entire term of twenty years has expired, for the reason that the Government will not be in a position to take these securities up and replace them by a cheaper loan. Already 5-20s of 1464 find a better appreciation, and are selling in the home market within ¼ per cent. of those of 1865, now the favorite securities in the German markets.

The ease in money is likely to have a very favorable influence on the value of Government securities, and higher quotations are expected up to the time when money will be needed for the fall business. Of course the country investors are adverse to paying such high prices, but they can be served with Union Pacific bonds at par and accrued interest bearing about the same relation to government bonds as the national bank circulation does to the greenback issue. It is to be regretted that these bonds are not to be had in small denominatiens exchangeable into large bonds at the pleasure of the holder. The gold market is unsettled, keeping firm at 139⅝ to 140, although frequently reported weak or dull; the very fact that quotations do not yield percentibly below the ruling rates shows that the tendency is rather for higher rates. The advance must be expected to be considerable, or would not pay on account of high rates of interest to carry gold. The opinions expressed within the last few days are still tenable. It now looks as if there would be a further postponement of the final act on the impeachment, and have the country subjected to another week's suspense and anxiety.

Money is easy for all first-class borrowers, but any second grade paper is difficult to place at even a high discount. Business is very dull.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 139⅞; 1881 bonds, 113⅞; 1862 5-20s, 109; 1864 do, 107; 1865 do, 107¼; Consols, 109¾; 10-40s, 103¼; 7-30s, 107¾.

Mining Shares—Corydon, 25; Quartz Hill, 95; Quicksilver, 31½.

—To-day the May compounds matured, of which issue there are outstanding $24,000,000, with interest added. There are also outstanding $4,745,280 of over-due compeunds. The unissued balance of $22,000,000 of three per cent. certificates will be available for the payment of both principal and interest of these notes; so that it may be estimated that about the whole of the certificates will this month go into the legal tender reserve of the banks, besides a certain amount of plain legal tenders. The certificates being available for Clearing-house settlements, and being also payable on demand in greenbacks, they will contribute to a freer circulation.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 15, 1865.

CRUDE—The Crude market was again remarkably quiet to-day, and a little dull and weak, though, compared with Thursday, there is no change in prices. We can report 450 barrels to be deliverod on this water at 11c; 5,000 bbls—1,000 each from August to December, at 12c; 700 bbls, on spot, at 11c, seller's option, and it was reported that there was a sale of spot oil at 10¾c, but for this we cannot vouch. The trade is in such a peculiar condition that it is difficult to report the market correctly; and, while it remains as it is dull and unsettled, it is not likely that there will be much done. Oil City telegrams quote at $4,25, which is a slight decline. Thus far, the arrivals of oil on the present rise have been comparatively light, from which it is fair to infer that the great proportion of the oil ready to move has already come forward.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was also very quiet to-day, not a single sale reported, and while there is absolutely nothing doing, prices are nominally unchanged. Last evening there were two sales reported for the last half of June at 30c, and it was rumored that the last half of May had been offered at 32c, buyer's option, without finding takers. July is nominal at 30 to 30½c. In regard to the "corner" there is, so far as we can learn, but little that is new; in some quarters it is thought that it will be a failure, and this is based on the continued heavy shipments, while others, on the contrary, think it will be a success.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil by river and rail reported to-day were as follows:

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 15, 1868.

The general markets are quiet and devoid of excitement, and while some articles are a little weak, there are no important changes in values.

APPLES—We can report a continued steady demand at $6 to $7 per barrel, as to quality.

ASHES—Quiet and unchanged; we continue to quote at 4½ to 5c for common and refined Soda Ash, and 11c for Pearls.

MILL FEED—Sales on wharf at $1,65 to $1,70 for Bran, and $2,15 to $2,25 for Middlings.

HAY—The supply in the Allegheny market was very light to-day, owing to the inclement weather and bad roads. We can can report sales of 8 loads only at $20 to $27, as to quality. Baled is coming in very freely, and is dull and lower; we now quote at $20 to $23, as to quality—on wharf.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is steady at $2,70 for prime Red. Corn, under the influence of increased arrivals, is dull and drooping; we heard of offers to sell at $1,05 to $1,08, the latter figure for prime Yellow—sale of 1 car load at $1,08, Rye cannot be quoted above $2. Sale of 1 car choice Spring Barley at $2,43.

BUTTER—Is dull and drooping; sale of prime to choice Roll at 35 to 37c, and print at 38 to 40c.

EGGS—Dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; we now give 18c as the standard price.

DRIED FRUIT—There is an improved demand for Apples, and we can report several round lot sales at 7c. Peaches steady 13½ to 14c for prime halves.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is quiet and unchanged at 14½c for Shoulders; 16½ to 17c for Ribbed and 18½c to 19c for Clear Sides; 19½ to 20c for Plain, and 20½ to 21c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 19½c to 20c. Mess Pork, $29,50 to $30. Dried Beef, 22 to 23c.

POTATOES—Steady but unchanged; regular sales of prime Peach Blows at $1,50 to $1,55 per bushel.

HOMINY—Is dull and unchanged—$6 to $6,25 per bbl.

LARD OIL—Unchanged at $1,23 to $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,53 to $1,55 for No. 1.

FLOUR—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and while the market is quiet and a little dull, prices are without quotable change. We continue to quote at $11 to $11,75 for Spring Wheat; $12 to $13 for Winter Wheat: and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is unchanged at $10 to $10,50.

PITTSBURGH METAL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, May 15, 1868.

We have no particular change to note in raw irons. The market since our last has undergone no quotable change. The operations were limited, being restricted to the actual wants of consumers. Advices have been received from the Mahoning districts that a strike had taken place among the coal miners, and that several furnaces had blown out.

The Treachery and the Traitors.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Times says:

The indignation felt against Grimes, Fessenden, Henderson and Trumbull takes the most bitter aspect that can be conceived. Already they are being lashed as with a whip of scorpions, and they are feeling in advance all the gloomy forebodings of political death.

Among the causes which have stirred the indignation of the friends of conviction toward the Republican Senators is the discovery of the fact, now beyond all doubt, that the President and some of his most intimate friends had their confidence and knew their intentions several days ago, and that these same Senators, save Mr. Grimes, utterly deceived their own political friends as to their intentions. This may have been done to avoid the pressure that would be certain to follow; but certain it is that the President and his counsel knew their friends long before their position was suspected. The coincidence of the names in the possession of the President also induced the belief among many that the combination was the result of an understanding, and that the various elements of disappointed ambition, hatred to Wade, free trade, high tariff and Presidential aspiration, have all been quite as patent as conscientious judgment.

The indignation is also levelled at Chief Justice Chase in no measured terms. He is known to have held publicly and privately that the President must be convicted of malicious intent, and it is claimed that his lessons have not been lost upon Senators, in the numerous dinings and winings at his "spacious mansion." Then, certain new developments regarding that vaulting ambition of his for the Presidency have just leaked out, and the fact that such Democrats as Dan Voorhees are ardently advocating the nomination of Mr. Chase as the candidate of the Democrats and the Conservative Republicans causes many to associate these things with the defection in the Senate. Third, party tactics are Mr. Chase's favorite weapons, whereby he has won his chief political success, and it would not be strange to see them once more in use.

The English Ministerial Crisis.

A London letter of the 29th ult. says:

A Ministerial crisis is imminent, although D'Israeli shows no inclination for surrendering his high position, which he is known to have acquired more through a combination of favorable circumstances than by his strict adherence to the party of which he is at present the leader. Gladstone, his bitter antagonist, may be accused of being actuated by not purely disinterested motives and of aspiring to the highest dignity in the Cabinet, but Gladstone is popular and, what is more, he defends a popular cause. Many prominent politicians argue, and not without a fair show of reason, that the connection with the Church of Ireland and the State is an anomaly, that its separation has become a matter of urgent necessity, and that the main grievances of the Irish population will be removed after the abolishment of such connection. To judge of present appearances, it is altogether probable that the Government will experience more defeats before long, and if the Premier insists on remaining in office until the next election, he will commit an act unprecedented in British history, and one which may entangle him in more serious difficulties than he may be aware of. The opposition party is strong, and united their ultimate success appears certain.

The Modern Drama.

Some laborious literary person has prepared an immense drama, entitled "A Fuss in Washington." The dramatis personæ are Andrew Johnson, Lorenzo Thomas, Gen Grant, and others. The first scene opens with Andrew Johnson alone and talking to himself. Lorenzo Thomas enters, carrying a demijohn. The following dialogue occurs:

"A. J.—Thomas, what have you there?

"Tho.—Benzine. Are you a benzinist?

"A. J.—I am, and long I want for it.

"Tho.—Take this. I'll get a glass. (He hands A. J. the demijohn and crosses the floor to get a glass. In the meantime A. J. makes himself the receptacle for the contents of the demijohn. He returns and hands the glass to A. J.)

"A. J.—No, thank you; you drink first.

"Tho.—Take it; drink.

"A. J.—I, I did drink. (Thomas raises the demijohn over the glass and finds it empty.)

"Tho.—That's so; you did."

MASSACHUSETTS has recently negotiated a loan of three million dollars for twenty years at four per cent. per annum. The National Government pays six per cent. gold, and our bonds are taken cautiously at that. In other words, the United States pays six per cent. gold for one thousand dollars of currency—Massachusetts can for four per cent. gold borrow one thousand dollars in gold. Now this two per cent. loss in interest, and twenty-five or thirty per cent. loss in the principal, accurately represents the influence of the presence of the Democratic party in the country. In the Bay State the Democracy is substantially unknown. As an element of power it has no meaning. Repudiation, of course, is not only never mooted or discussed, but never so much as breathed. With her sixty thousand Republican majority, a reflection on the commercial honor or credit of Massachusetts would be resented similarly as an aspersion on the virtue of one's wife or daughter. Repudiation there is treason, and repudiators are looked on as traitors, and we see the result. We, as a nation, are paying dear for the being in our midst of the disloyal organization. One-half of the taxes now paid by the people of the United States are directly chargeable to the Democracy. It costs us just twice as much to borrow money as need be, by reason of the dishonest policy and course of this reckless and desperate party.—Phila. Press.

AN arrangement of much importance to the coal, iron and lumber interests of this State, has been consummated between the several canal lines on the Susquehanna river and its branches, embracing the Wyoming Canal, the West Branch and Susquehanna, the Pennsylvania, and the Susquehanna and Tidewater Canals. These several companies, together owning the whole system of canals draining the great interior of the State, and connecting it with tidewater, have entered into a contract which takes effect immediately. By this contract they respectively bind themselves to operate their canals as one line on all through tonnage, to pro-rata all through tolls, and to enlarge all their canals by the spring of 1871 to six feet depth of water. It is estimated by the parties interested that the above arrangement will effect a reduction of one-half on the vast tonnage of anthracite and bituminous coal, lumber and iron which annually seeks tidewater by these lines, and will at once create an outlet for the bituminous coal of Pennsylvania, which will enable it to command the New York and Eastern markets, thereby vastly extending the business and tonnage of the Susquehanna valley.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Record Republican Senators Have Made.

The following is the resolution adopted by the Senate in executive session on the night of the 21st of February last:

Whereas, The Senate have read and considered the communication of the President stating that he had removed Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War, and had designated the Adjutant General of the Army to act as Secretary of War ad interim. Therefore,

Resolved, By the Senate of the United States, that under the Constitution and laws of the United States, the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War, and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office ad interim.

This resolution was voted for by the following Senators:

Messrs. Anthony, Cameron, Cattell, Cole, Conkling, Cragin, Drake, Ferry, Harlan, Morrill, of Maine, Morrill, of Vermont, Morton, Patterson, of New Hampshire, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Ross, Sprague, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Wade, Willey, Williams, Wilson, Yates.

The following is the resolution reinstating Secretary Stanton, adopted on the 13th of January last:

Resolved, That, having considered the evidence and reasons given by the President, in his report of the 12th of December, 1867, for the suspension of Edwin M. Stanton, the Senate do not concur in such suspension.

This resolution was voted for by the following Senators, all of whom it might reasonably be supposed, believed the Civil-Tenure act applicable to Mr. Stanton's case, and it can scarcely escape the conclusion that his removal was an infraction of the law:

Messrs. Anthony, Cameron, Cattell, Chandler, Cole, Conkling, Conness, Corbett, Cragin, Drake, Edmunds, Ferry, Fessenden, Fowler, Frelinghuysen, Howard, Harlan, Howe, Morton, Morrill of Maine, Morrill of Vermont, Morton, Nye, Patterson of New Hampshire, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Stewart, Sumner, Thayer, Tipton, Trumbull, Wade, Willey, Williams and Wilson.

Methodist Reconstruction.

The resolutions of Dr. Harris which finally took the place of all other propositions, and were passed, went straight to the mark, conceding nothing to the ecclesiastical lawyers who doubted the power of this Conference to reconstruct the Church; and making no compromise with those who wanted to procrastinate in admitting the two African Conferences. At the same time a noble spirit of brotherly love has prevailed on all sides, and the majority has strenuously insisted that the other side should be fully heard. The minority contained at least one brother who had in him still some of the old leaven of slavery, but no bad blood seems to have been aroused.

This action will carry great joy to a hundred thousand faithful patriots in the South, represented by the delegates admitted, and also to the whole African Methodist Episcopal Church. It was stated in the discussion that telegrams had been sent South to rebel Methodists that the General Conferance "would keep out the Yankees and niggers." This announcement was received with great indignation, and almost resulted in closing the discussion and putting through the measure now passed under the previous question.—Chicago Tribune.

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

Special Meeting of the Stockholders—The Ordinance Passed by Baltimore Councils Accepted.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company was held at the office of the Secretary, in the Depot building, corner of Grant and Water streets, on Friday morning. The meeting was organized by calling Captain J. R. Henderson to the chair, and appointing Wm. J. Gilmore and J. H. Page, Secretaries.

W. O. Hughart, Esq., President of the road, stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of adopting or rejecting the ordinances passed by the Baltimore Councils, authorizing "the removal and extension of the mortgage due the city of Baltimore by the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company, and to fund arrears of interest due thereby," together with the supplement thereto. Mr. Hughart took occasion to explain the provisions of the ordinances, and referred briefly to the difficulties which had been encountered by the company, the litigations to which it had been subjected, the efforts to obtain the repeal of oppressive legislation, and the success which had crowned those efforts. He also referred at some length to the action of the Baltimore Councils, and stated that until the efforts put forth by the company not one dollar had been expended otherwise than in a legitimate manner. He alluded in most encouraging terms to the future of the company and stated that the work would be commenced at an early day on a financial basis that would not admit of a doubt that the entire road would be finished in two years. During the course of his remarks he also alluded to the negotiations now pending with other companies, and intimated that the only difficulty likely to arise, was from a claim by Allegheny county, but that a proposition had already been made for its speedy settlement.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Hughart's remarks, the ordinance adopted by the Baltimore Councils and the supplement thereto, were read by Mr. J. H. Page.

W. S. Bissell, Esq., offered the following resolution:

Be it Resolved, By the Stockholders of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company in general meeting assembled. That the provisions of an ordinance of the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, entitled "An Ordinance for the renewel and extension of the mortage debt due the city of Baltimore by the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company, and to fund arrears of interest due thereby," and the supplement thereto, approved on the 5th day of May, 1868, entitled a "supplement to an ordinance, passed on the 13th day of March, 1868," entitled "an ordinance for the removal and extension of the mortgage debt due the city of Baltimore by the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad Company, and to fund arrears of interest due thereby," be and the same are hereby accepted according to the tenor of the ordinances aforesaid, and that the Directors of this Company be and they are fully authorized to do whatever may be necessary to give full effect to the provisions of said ordinances, and to agree with the Trustees named in said ordinances, or with the majority of them, upon the terms, time and manner in which the bonds of the company, for four million of dollars, shall be issued, and to execute, acknowledge and deliver to the said Trustees, or to the majority of them, the deed of trust therein provided for, to be delivered to the Trustees named therein; it being, however, expressly understood that no bond shall be issued, which, in addition to the signatures of the President and Secretary, shall not be countersigned by the said parties of the second part, or a majority of them."

As the charter required the vote on the resolution to be taken by ballot, on motion Major E. D. Yutzy was appointed Judge, and E. W. McClure and J. C. Harvey appointed tellers.

The tellers announced that 25,911 shares had been voted for the resolution, and none in opposition thereto.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

Attempted Abduction.

On Wednesday evening last, between eight and nine o'clock, a little girl, whose parents reside on Middle alley, Allegheny, was sent to a grocery store on Ohio street, near Cedar avenue, to make some purchases, and after procuring the articles started to return home, when she was met by a ruffian, who seized her by the arm and presented a pistol, threatening to kill her if she made any noise. He then conducted her to Cedar avenue and thence to the bridge by the way of Anderson street, keeping hold of her arm all the time. On the bridge he relaxed his hold for an instant, and taking advantage of the opportunity the child broke away and fled towards Allegheny. The man pursued her a short distance, but the approach of a gentleman caused him to relinquish the attempt to recapture the child, and turning around suddenly he started for this city. When the child reached home she was completely exhausted, and fell upon the floor. Her arm was terribly bruised, and the impressions of the grasp of the scoundrel were plainly visible. What his intentions were, or who he was is unknown; but no matter who he was it was an outrageous proceeding.

The Campbell Larceny Case.

Robert Campbell, charged before Alderman McMasters with perjury, on oath of Michael Mullen, had a hearing, yesterday, and was discharged. Campbell made information Tuesday, before the Mayor, charging Mullen and Edward Farrell with larceny. The Mayor, for some reasons, discharged the case, after which the information for perjury was made. After hearing the case as stated, the Alderman discharged Campbell, when he again made information against Mullen and Farrell for larceny, and Alderman McMasters, before whom the information was made, held the accused to bail for their appearance at Court, to answer the charge. The same evidence, we are informed, was adduced before the Mayor, who discharged the case, as that given before the Alderman yesterday, who held the accused. One or the other of these magistrates is in error, which one we do not pretend to say; but if the grand jury ignore the bill, the Mayor's action in the case would appear to have been correct, while on the other hand the finding of a true bill will certainly vindicate the Alderman.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician to the Board of Health, makes the following report of the interments in the city of Pittsburgh for the week commencing May 3d, and ending May 10th, 1868:

The diseases were: Consumption, 3; disease of heart, 2; unknown, 1; gastro enteritis, 1; meningitis, 1; pneumonia, 2; scarlet fever, 1; acute meningitis, 1; heart disease, 2; concussion of brain, 1, cholera infantum, 1; dropsy, 1; premature birth, 1.

Of the above there were 5 under 1 year; from 1 to 2, 1; from 2 to 5, 2; from 5 to 10, 2; from 20 to 30, 1; from 30 to 40, 1; from 40 to 50, 2; from 50 to 60, 1; from 70 to 80, 2.

Of these 8 were males and 10 females; 17 were white and 1 colored.

Personal.—Mr. William Curtis, R. W. G. Secretary to the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Pennsylvania, will arrive in this city to-day, on business relative to the approaching session of the Grand Lodge of that body. He will visit Mechanics' Lodge, No. 9, at Curtis Hall, this evening.

Sabbath School Teacher's Union.

At the monthly meeting of the Union this week, it was decided to discontinue for the present their Sabbath afternoon meetings at the Academy of Music. It was stated by the Chairman of the Committee on Meetings, T. H. Rabe, Esq., that it was considered best to discontinue the services during the summer season, and to engage in open air meetings.

After some complimentary remarks about the city papers in helping mission work, the following resolution of thanks was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to our city Press for the kindness in publishing notices, free of expense, for our Mission meetings, held on Sabbath afternoons during the past season, in the Academy of Music.

There was a very earnest discussion by the members of the Association in relation to the requirements of the times, demanding sincere active church members to engage actively in home mission work; feeling that while they enjoyed the full privileges of hearing the Gospel, it was not only their duty to listen to the Word, but to teach it, individually, to others.

The monthly meetings of this Association are largely attended, and are productive of much good in stimulating one another in the good work in which they are engaged.

Incendiary Fire.

A fire occurred yesterday morning about two o'clock at Jack's Run, on the line of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, about five miles from the city, by which the barn on the premises of Mr. Herman Schaffer was totally destroyed. When the fire was discovered the flames had gained such headway that all efforts to subdue them were fruitless, and the building with its entire contents, were destroyed. A valuable horse belonging to Mr. Schaffer was burned to death. The stable contained a considerable amount of hay, etc., besides harness. While the members of the family were endeavoring to put out the fire some hams, butter and provisions were stolen from the cellar of the dwelling. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. Mr. Schaffer discovered a colored man sleeping in the stable the night previous, and ordered him from the premises, and threatened to shoot him if he discovered him again. The colored man was seen in the vicinity just before dark on Thursday evening, and it is strongly suspected that he fired the barn out of revenge.

The O'Briens.

Timothy O'Brien, a resident of Woods Run, was so ungallant as to strike his wife with his fist yesterday, a proceeding which Bridget could by no means tolerate. She made oath before Mayor Drum charging him with assault and battery. Timothy was arrested and taken before His Honor, the Mayor, for a hearing. His plea was "guilty—but drunk." The Mayor thought drunkenness no excuse and informed him that he would have to procure bail for his appearance at Court, or go to jail. Timothy had faced the battle with a bold front until this announcement was made, when he immediately "wilted." He begged, plead and promised all sorts of things to Bridget, if she would withdraw the charge, but Bridget was inexorable in her purpose and refused to comply with his modest request. He was committed to jail in default of bail.

Drunken Fight.

Henry Clagget and Jim Murray, two drunken negroes, residing in Hamilton's Court, off Washington street, after getting drunk together yesterday quarrelled, and finally got to fighting. Claggett, it is alleged, drew a knife and cut the other on the left side, whereupon Murray seized a large club, or piece of board, and struck his antagonist over the head with it, inflicting a severe wound above the left eye. Alderman Butler was notified of the affray and proceeded to the scene of conflict, where he found the parties about to renew the fight, which had been partially quelled. He arrested them and held them to bail for their appearance this morning. They both declined to prosecute, but will be fined for disorderly conduct.

Fun Off-Shore.

We were disappointed at not being able to attend the steamboat excursion on the Monongahela river on Thursday evening. We learn from several who were with the party that the affair was a most pleasant one. The steamer "Fayette," which bore the excursionists, was beautifully decorated with national devices which tended greatly to make the affair festive. The ladies wore the stars and stripes in minature most conspicuously. The music was of the first order. Capt. Donaldson and his gentlemanly aids will be duly remembered for the courtesies shown the excursionists. The managers, a gentlemanly quartette, intend giving another excursion at an early day at which we hope to be present.

Grand Concert.

For next Thursday evening there is promised a grand vocal concert in the Fifth United Presbyterian Church, corner of Webster and Wylie streets, by and under the auspices of the Allegheny Quartette Association. The programme embraces the choicest gems of religious and secular music, and those who attend may safely anticipate a rare musical feast. The proceeds will be applied to the benefit of the Sabbath school attached to the church. We trust that there will be a large attendance as the cause is worthy, and the performers will leave nothing undone to secure the enjoyment of their audience.

Street Commissioner's Report.

J. D. McFaden, Street Commissioner Second District, furnishes us with the following report of work done in his district during the month of April: 23 streets and alleys and 12 sewer drops cleaned; 2,389 loads of rubbish removed from streets; 12 streets repaired; 1,421 square yards paving done in twenty-one and three-fourth days; 324 loads of gravel, 29 loads of paving stone and 139 loads of cinders hauled for repairs; 30 permits to open streets granted; 7 culverts and bridges repaired; 23 notices to repair sidewalks and 19 to remove nuisances issued; 8 vehicles taken up for want of owners, and 250 old hoop skirts raised off the streets.

Malicious Mischief.

Edward Czarniecki, proprietor of a livery stable, in the Fourth ward, Allegheny, made oath, before Alderman Mullin, yesterday, charging Frank Croll with malicious mischief. He alleges that the accused hired a horse and buggy from him to drive to Manchester, promising to return in two hours. That he abused the horse and broke the buggy, and instead of returning with the team at the time promised he kept it away several hours longer and then sent it back, in place of bringing it himself. He was arrested and the case was amicably settled between the parties.

Barroom Row.—Michael Sherman made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging Joseph Shaw, Tim Gallagher and Walter Young with disorderly conduct. Michael is the proprietor of a saloon in East Liberty, and he alleges that the accused came into his house on Thursday night and acted in a disorderly manner. They were all drunk, and, it is said, made an attack upon the glass-ware which they completely demolished. Officer Brunet arrested them and brought them to the city, when, after a hearing, they were required to pay the usual fine and costs.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Another beggarly and wide-spread-out audience greeted the ballet troupe last evening. We are really very sorry that the management has not met with better success in catering to the intellectual and theatrical wants of the people. Some how or other the place has lost caste, and in spite of the strenuous and extraordinary efforts put forward to bring it up in the estimation of the community, the same heart-sickening results, thin houses, is experienced. The powerful opposition of the Pittsburgh Theatre has had much to do with the signal failure of the half-clothed ballet troupe this week. Next week the legitimate will be resumed, if indeed we can call that legitimate which fails to impress the keenest mind with any of the beauties of the dramatic art, or afford any higher appreciation of the great authors of comedy or tragedy than would be derived at the public school or third-class Thespian society entertainment.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—As usual this place of entertainment under the popular management of Mr. Aims, had a large house last evening, which stood out in sad contrast with the small one at its more pretentious rival up street. To-night a great bill is offered and those who can enjoy fun, mirth, sentiment and frolic will be pleased, in justice to the stock company of this establishment we would say that none of its members have graduated from the Opera House.

BURNELL'S MUSEUM.—A number of new living curiosities have been added to the already large number on exhibition at this attractive and permanently located museum. Their levees are held all day and in the evening.

A Fast Youth.—Frederick King, a shoemaker residing on Webster street, yesterday made information before the Mayor, charging John Roan, a boy of fourteen years, with larceny. He states that Roan was learning the shoe business with him, and yesterday morning having some business down town, he left the boy in the shop alone. When he returned the boy had departed, taking with him a silver watch and two pairs of boots, the property of the prosecutor. Roan is a fast youth, having been in the House of Refuge for a similar offense. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Trouble at Ireland Station.—A few days since Thomas Welsh made information before Alderman Donaldson against Thomas Laughlin and wife for surety of the peace, and Laughlin retaliated with a similar information against Welsh and wife. The parties reside at Ireland Station, and it appears had a general quarrel, upon which occasion they all used language of a threatening character. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

Arm Broken.—Patrick Murphy met with an accident Thursday evening, by which his arm was broken. About seven o'clock he was walking beside the track of the Allegheny Valley Railroad, near the O'Hara street crossing, when he was struck by the rear of a train of cars which was being backed down the track. He was knocked down, but fortunately for himself fell outside of the track, breaking his arm in the fall.

Dirty Sidewalk.—The sidewalk on Webster street, near Seventh, is in a most deplorable condition. It is covered with clay to the depth of two or three inches, which in wet weather renders it almost impassible at that point. We are informed that it has been in this condition for five or six weeks. What has become of the ordinance requiring sidewalks and gutters to be cleaned twice a week?

Large Accession.—Thirty-five persons have acceded, during the present week, to the communion of the First Reformed Presbyterian congregation of this city, of which Rev. John Douglas, D. D., is pastor. Rev. David Steele, D. D., one of the professors in the Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, will preach in this church to-morrow (being communion Sabbath) evening at half-past seven o'clock.

The Allegheny Fair.—Last night the great cane contest at the Allegheny Fair, between the friends of Mayors Blackmore and Drum, resulted in victory for the former, by a majority approximating eight hundred. The vote on the silver tray, pitcher and goblet will be closed to-night by sealed ballot. Mr. Bigley was ahead last night. The Fair closes to-night.

Slight Fire.—The alarm of fire at half-past six o'clock yesterday, which came from box forty-six, was occasioned by a slight fire in Zug's Nail Mills, at the corner of Etna and Walnut streets, in the Fifth ward. The fire department responded promptly, but their services were not required, as the fire was extinguished by the application of a few buckets of water.

Larceny of Oats.—G. Ludwig made information before Alderman Strain, yesterday, charging James Richey with larceny. The parties reside at Glendale station, on the P. Ft. W. & C. Railroad, and the prosecu- alleges that the accused carried away two sacks of oats, the property of the prosecutor. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Accident.—John Martin, residing at 83 Fifth street, and employed at Lewis, Oliver & Co.'s nut factory, in Birmingham, had the first two fingers of his right hand taken off by having them caught in some of the machinery about the mill. Dr. McCook dressed the wound and the young man is getting along very well.

Committed for Trial.—Edward Green, charged on oath of J. R. Scaright with the larceny of a silver watch and a coat, was arrested in East Liberty, Thursday night, and taken to the lock-up, where he remained until yesterday morning, when after a hearing he was committed to jail in default of bail to answer at court.

Out of Repair.—The curve in the track of the Minersville Passenger Railway at Fulton street and Centre avenue is in very bad order. Yesterday the axles of three buggies were broken at that point in consequence of the bad condition of the track. The Company should have it repaired immediately.

False Pretense.—James O'Rourke, doing business at No. 9 Wood street, made information before Alderman Strain, yesterday, charging J. H. Robinson, of South Pittsburgh, with obtaining goods under false pretense. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Disorderly in the Market.—Officer Dressler, market constable, arrested Owen Denling yesterday for disorderly conduct in the market house. He was taken to Alderman Humbert's office, and after a hearing committed for thirty days.

To Be Paved.—We are informed that the work of laying the Nicolson pavement, on Fifth street, will be commenced next week, the weather permitting. We hope the weather will be favorable and remain so until it is completed.

A Snake Story.—The skin of a large snake, about fifteen feet in length, was found in Beach alley, Eighth ward, yesterday evening, by a boy who was playing in the alley. Where did it come from?

Improvements.—An addition is being built to the already extensive glass works of Mr. Ripley, of Birmingham.

The place to get White Lime, Calcined Plaster, Hydraulic Cement, is at D. R. Ecker's, 167 First street.

Pittock allows his customers to try the Foley Pen before purchasing. Try them. Buy them at Pittock's.

Selling Short.

There appeared in our commercial columns yesterday, a communication over the signature of "S. S." which was not previously submitted to the editors of this paper for its acceptance or rejection. We feel in duty bound to publish the following rejoinder, claiming for it a careful perusal, and trusting that it will close the controversy so unwittingly opened in yesterday's GAZETTE:

EDITORS GAZETTE: Your correspondent "S. S.," which I presume means "Sold Short," charges "a certain Refining Co., with conspiring with certain parties to squeeze the Refiners, by some contemptible sharp practices."

I understand that it is generally understood in the Trade, that it is the Company which I represent, that is thus referred to; if so, it is false in every particular.

He charges, that those parties have conspired to buy oil, and call for it in a sudden and unexpected manner, contrary to the usual custom, which, he says, is to deliver on the last day of the month. Now this is known by the entire Trade to be false.

Oil that could be called for in this way, that is, sold on contract at buyer's option, which means, the buyer can call for it when he wants it, and the seller is bound to furnish it,—oil sold in this manner commands on an average, one cent per gallon more than oil on the spot, or seller's option. The buyer thus pays for this privilege, which enables him to call for it whenever he wants it, or when in his judgment he can make the most money out of it.

The company that I represent has a large capital invested and are engaged buying, selling and refining oil. During the last four months it has been impossible to buy crude, manufacture and sell, without losing money. This has been caused by short sellers like "S. S.," men without a dollar or a barrel of oil, who enter the field and sell thousands of barrels at a less price than any honest manufacturer can make it, and thus by brazen impudence break down the price, expecting when the panic ensues, to cover up their contracts at a profit.

This Company finding it impossible to compete with such operators, have exercised their own judgment, used their own capital, have entered the field, and I am not ashamed to say, have bought largely from these cheap sellers, and using the right which they have agreed to pay for, and which the seller has sold them, have called for their oil when in their judgment they can make the most money out of it, and they will be prepared to take and pay for every barrel of oil they have purchased when the time comes, and fulfill their part of the contract, and we expect the short selling gamblers to do the same.

It will be plain to every man of common sense, that a person who has sold an article that he has not got, and cannot furnish, is alone the gambler. The person who buys, takes the goods, and pays for them, is a legitimate operator.

This is precisely what this Company has done and expect to do. They have exercised their own rights under their contracts, and have called for their oil separate and distinct from everybody, which is proved by the fact that our calls are one day in advance of all others.

Seeing that the stock was exhausted, that a large number of vessels were on "demurrage," and an urgent demand for oil, we have called and done our best to make all we can out of our purchases, and are not ashamed to tell it.

The idea that because others have seen the same state of facts and have followed suit, constitutes a conspiracy, is simply ridiculous.

I join with "Short Seller" in hoping that the time for "this pernicious system of corner is past," but it will not be so until refiners stop gambling, which selling their goods in advance is. This, I think, is only to be accomplished by a few more "squeezes" like the present, which I hope will bring them to reason, and make our business what it should be—"legitimate manufacture."

President Nat. Ref. and Storing Co.

Orderly Wife.

"Wife," said a man, looking for his bootjack, "I have places where I keep my things, and you ought to know it. "Yes," said she, "I ought to know where you keep your late hours—but I don't." There is another thing that every good wife ought to know, and that is that Joseph Liebler, the well-known trunk dealer, No. 104 Wood street, keeps on hand the very best quality of trunks, carpet sacks, valises, hand sacks, and everything in this line of goods, which he offers at very reasonable prices. Remember the place, No. 104 Wood street.

Larceny by Bailee.—John Fritchle made information before Alderman McMasters yesterday, charging John Allen with larceny by bailee. The parties reside in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, and it is alleged by the prosecutor that some months since Allen borrowed a wagon bed from him which he has retained in his possession until the present time, and refuses to return it. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Soldier's League and Firemen's Prayer Meeting.—To-morrow (Sunday) afternoon, at quarter past four o'clock, there will be two meetings held under the auspices of the Young Mens' Christian Association, one at the Hope Fire Engine House, foot of Seminary Hill, the other at the Soldiers' League Library Rooms, Lecock street, opposite Anchor Cotton Mills, Allegheny City.

Correction.—We reported a case of assault and battery yesterday, in which N. Shaffer was prosecutor, and stated that information had been made before Alderman Neille, which was incorrect. The information was made before Alderman Bailey, of the First Ward, Allegheny. We are requested to state that N. Shaffer the penman is not the gentleman referred to.

Continues.—The strike with the miners in the Mahoning valley still continues. The Iron works not stocked with coal have been compelled to suspend operations, and if the strike continues long, others will necessarily have to do so. The miners in the Shenango Valley now threaten a strike unless they get the advance asked for.

More Bawdy House Cases.—Commitments were lodged against Frank Foster and Barbara Milbaugh by Alderman McMasters, on oath of Hannah Gallaher, on a charge of keeping a bawdy house. The accused were committed some weeks since on a similar charge.

Abused His Wife.—John Oliver, of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, was charged before Alderman Mullen with assault and battery, yesterday, on oath of his wife, Rebecca Oliver. She alleges that he kicked her down stairs. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Contentment.—To be contented and happy, satisfied with yourself and the world, buy your shirts at Cree Brothers, 26 Fifth street. They always fit, and are the cheapest and best made. They are headquarters for gents' furnishing goods.

Released on Bail.—William Husband, charged with complicity in the O'Neil riot, who was arrested and committed some two weeks since, procured the required bail yesterday and was released.

The Cheapest and the Finest—25 cts. to $100. All can be suited at Cargo's Gallery, Federal street, Allegheny, next to the R.R. Depot. "Secure your shadow."

Needs Repairing.—Some portions of Ohio street needs repairing, and the entire street would be improved by a thorough scraping.

A Distressing Complaint.

I have been afflicted with Catarrh for many years. The discharge from my nose and head was terrible. My sense of smelling had left me, and in fact, my whole system had become so much impaired that I had about given up all hopes of recovery. I tried all manner of remedies and nothing helped me in the slightest degree. I also consulted with skilful physicians, and they pronounced my case as incurable. Hearing of Dr. Kennedy's "PERMANENT CURE FOR CATARRH," I procured a package, and in six weeks it entirely cured me of this horrible disease.

H. I. RUBLEE, Auburn, N. Y.

On the 7th day of November, 1867, personally appeared before me, Hiram I. Rublee, to me well known as a respectable citizen of the city of Auburn, and being by me duly sworn, says the foregoing statement is true in every particular.

The Greatest Attraction in Allegheny is not her splendid and well supplied markets, but the "Diamond Front Grocery" and produce establishment of Messrs. McBride & George, No. 164 Federal street. Purchasers find that they can obtain no where else more decided advantages for the purchase of groceries and produce than at this house, as the stock is always large, fresh and inviting. The firm monopolize a large share of trade, and by close attention to business popular prices and great consideration for the interests of partrons are daily increasing it. We commend this house in most earnest terms to dealers who buy to sell again or retail purchasers.

Practical Economy.—It is wise to try good articles at cheap prices, and hence it is wise to favor the wholesale and retail auction and commission warerooms of Smithson, Vanhook & McClelland, Masonic Hall Building, 55 and 57 Fifth street, with a purchasing visit at the private sales of today. Japanese Fish—a novelty, at Pittock's.

The Last Days of ex-President Martin Van Buren were made comfortable by the use of Jonas Whitcomb's Asthma Remedy. Letters in our possession from his physician, and from Mr. Van Buren himself express much gratification with the results of its use.

Extracts from the "Life of Washington Irving, by his nephew, Pierre M. Irving, Vol. IV. page 272:

"The doctor prescribed, as an experiment,—what had been suggested by Dr. (O. W.) Holmes on his late visit,—'Jonas Whitcomb's Remedy for Asthma,' a teaspoonful in a wineglass of water, to be taken every four hours. A good night was the result."

In no case of purely Asthmatic character has it failed to give prompt relief, and in many cases a permanent cure has been effected. No danger need be apprehended from its use. An infant may take it with perfect safety. (See Circular.)

—The ship William Cummings brought to Philadelphia a day or two ago from the west coast of Africa Captain Miller and crew in irons. In February last the crew mutinied because of cruel treatment by the Captain, and the cook, a bright mulatto, named George Williams, murdered the mate, a brother of the Captain. The whole party, fourteen men, were committed to answer charges and as witnesses.
